STATE LAND BOARD IS CRITICISED.

Raise in Minimum Price of Land Works Hardship in Outlying Counties.

VIEWS OF JUAB COUNTY BOARD

Most Valuable Land Sold for $1,50 an Acre, $2.50 Now Demanded for Remainder.

Nephl. Juab Co., Utah, March 19, 1906.

Editor Deseret News: Referring to the article which appeared in your issue of March 8 under the heading "The price of Land, Juab County Commissioners do not approve of the action taken," will you permit us to explain to the public through the columns of your valued paper just where we stand on this question. We appreciate the evident intent of the state board of land commissioners in raising the minimum on state lands from $1.50 to $2.50 per acre. and agree with them that from the side of the question from which they have undoubtedly viewed the matter, i. e., that of increasing through the sale of that of increasing through the sale of state lands the various funds into which the proceeds from same would go, their action would seem to be for the best interest of the state, but there is another side to the question which they seem to have overlooked and which the use who are located in the which to us who are located in the outlying counties puts the proposition in an entirely different light. It is simply this: There is in the outlying counties a vast acreage of land of such a nature that title to same cannot be made under any of the entries provided made under any of the entries provided by the general government; lack of water makes it impossible for people to live on same and acquire title under the homestead law, and because of this shortage of water no title can be made under the desert act. So that if this land is ever to come into the hands of the people, it must come through purchase from the state. Under the old minimum price of $1.50 an acre, a part of this land was being taken, but the advance of price has practically stopped all applications. The land is valueless except for grazing and for that purpose is not worth the present minimum price. If the minimum is maintained as now fixed the present minimum price. It the minimum is maintained as now fixed the result will be that only the most valuable land will be sold, such as is located in the most populous counties, and frequently such as could be entered under the government grants, and the less valuable land situated in the outlying counties will continue as the outlying counties will continue as now to be public domain, the growth of these counties will thus be curtailed, and neither the state nor county will ever receive any revenue from same, which might otherwise be done in the shape of taxes upon the land and im-provements, which would be placed on them, if the lands were owned by the

Again, had the advance price been Again, shad the advance price been established in the beginning, there might have been wisdom therein, but to seil half of the grants (excepting regular school lands) made to the state by the government at $1.50 per acre, and after the best lands have been sc-lected, to raise the price to $2.50 per acre on the lands of poorer quality we

Under the old rule of the land board the most populous and wealthy coun-ties have got most of their lands into the hands of the taxpayers, and under the new rule the outside counties, that are handicapped by lack of capital and population in proportion to their area must of necessity see their develop-ment retarded for the want of cheap lands to offer to investors and settlers as an inducement to get them to improve the waste places of this great

It is not a question as to what other states sell their lands for, but as to what is the best policy to build up Many of the surrounding states Utah. have been handleapped by not hav-ing their lands in the hands of tax payers. The history of Nevada's pro-gress would have been very different, if upon gaining statehood she had taken the wise course Utah did to get her land grants into the hands of the peo-

PROMOTION FOR CALIFF.

Former Lieutenant Colonel is Now a Brigadier General.

The many Salt Lake friends of Lieut.corps will feel like extending hearty con gratulations on his promotion to be brig-adier-general, even though he is to go on the retired list. Gen. Calliff made his first acquaintances in Salt Lake when he came here after the Spanish war as captain of the Third artillery regiment, to buy horses for that branch of the service. He was made a major in July, 190, and stationed at Fort Douglas in command of the Twelfth and Twenty-second light batteries, being promoted to be lleutenant-colonel in May, 1904. He was shortly thereafter transferred to Fort McKinley in Maine, and now at the age of 63 is retired with a star on his shoulder straps. Gen. Calliff began service in 1863 as second lieutenant of the Seventh United States colored infantry, and was mustered out as captain in 1865. The following year he was commissioned second lieutenant in the Third artillery, and remained with that command until 1901. He is an honor graduate of the artillery school at Fortress Monroe. the retired list. Gen. Califf made his first graduate of the Fortress Monroe.
